

Resource Connection wins second award

BOSTON, May 25, 2004- The Resource Connection (TRC) of Middleton, MA has won their second quality service award. The Best Vendor Performance Award was given to the company by The Commonwealth of Massachusetts' Affirmative Market Program, in recognition of demonstrated professionalism and outstanding record of customer satisfaction. The Co-owners, Sallyann Tomarchio and Janet Santa Anna, accepted the award at the State House on May 25, 2004. This is the second award TRC has received recently for quality service. Verizon also recognized them with their Supplier Excellence Award out of a field of 6,500 vendors.

The Resource Connection (TRC) is a state-certified women-owned staffing services firm that specializes in both temporary and direct placement of office and administrative personnel. TRC recruits, screens, and evaluates candidates for both long term and short term positions.

The Affirmative Market Program's Executive Director, Monserette Quinones, said that "The Resource Connection has been participating in statewide contracts for the past twelve years". She confirmed TRC's temporary staffing service has been outstanding. "Providing excellent customer service starts with understanding the needs of both our customers and our candidates," said Janet Santa Anna. "It is an honor to be recognized by The Commonwealth for what we consider to be the core of our business success."

TRC has offices in Middleton and Boston, MA. They have been providing temporary, temp to hire, and direct staffing services since 1987.
